A SUMMER HINT.

It pleases us to call the attention of our readers to the inconsistencies of the white man who is forever pointing out our faults. We are not loath to point out a few of his glaring faults and, semi-occasionally, when we find a man whose convictions are based upon the principles of right and he has the courage to give expression publicly to his views, we are delighted to accord him proper credit. But we find our greatest pleasure in emphasizing the good qualities exhibited by some member of our race.

We do not believe in eternally harping on the faults of our race or of those of any other race, but we believe occasionally we should direct the attention of our readers to some of the charges made against us as a race and most especially when we think there are good grounds for the allegations of the accuser.

One charge made against us as a race is, we are not clean. To be more specific, the white man says that the Negro, as a rule, gives off an odor that is rather offensive; in plain words, he stinks. Is this charge true? If it is, we cannot alter the fact by making the counter assertion, an assertion which we know is true, that the white man exudes an odor which is not only offensive to us, but also to other races and especially to the Japanese. What are the facts in the case so far as it concerns us as a race? We fear, though it humiliates us to make the admission, that there is more truth than fiction in the charge.

We had an occasion recently to attend a gathering of our people—the largest we believe that has assembled at one time and one place in this city during the year. Being late we were forced to push our way from one portion of the vast audience to the other. We encountered in our passage about one dozen different odors and one well defined stink. The odors varied from the cheap cologne which made its presence known in all directions within a radius of ten feet, to the most delicate perfume of the most refined. Sachet and talcum powders were also in evidence. But that well defined stink seemed to be omnipresent. It overshadowed, aye even eclipsed all of the odors. We wish we could find a more delicate way to express our meaning and yet convey in a simple, direct way our opinion as to the cause of the stink, but we can only say, truthfully, that the cause so far as we were enabled to determine was the sparing use of soap and water upon those portions of the anatomy not exposed to sight.

But, seriously, we pay too little attention, as a race, to the sanitary conditions of our homes and bodies. The large death rate of our race in the cities especially can be directly charged to our disregard of the laws of health. Filthiness causes more death in the course of a year among the people of a city like Nashville than there are Negroes lynched for the same period in the least law abiding state in the Union.

Let's all begin a campaign for cleaner bodies and cleaner homes; invest more in soap and less in these loud scented powders and perfumes, and if we keep it up, the enormous death rate will soon dwindle to where it should be.

BEN TILLMAN.

Ben Tillman, the would-be duelist! Recently there was going the rounds of the press a story of Benjamin's latest sensational caper in a Michigan town, where he delivered his irrepressible harangue on the Negro. It was rumored at the time that a Mr. Dolliver stirred up the ire of the loquacious Carolinian to such an extent by criticizing him that he challenged the Michigander to mortal combat.

Bishop Henry M. Turner, the venerable prelate of the A. M. E. Church, statesman, scholar, writer and soldier, offers to add to the coins in Ben Tillman's exchequer to the amount of one thousand dollars, if he can make a speech without having the Negro in it. Mind you, the Bishop means a speech that will be considered a speech by those competent to judge or what constitutes a speech. As Ben Tillman is out for the shekels, the loaves and fishes, this is a good chance for him to copper the coin and refute the charge made against him by one of America's grandest men and sages.

Tillman cannot ignore this challenge, because this whole country knows that he would be as helpless before an audience without his pet hobby as a schoolboy without any preparation would be. If he does not want the Bishop's "filthy lucre," let him prove by actual accomplishment that the Bishop's declaration is unfounded.

No one doubts the results of such an attempt, if Tillman accepts the gauge thrown down by Bishop Turner; no one believes he can measure up to the height and dignity of a speech with the Negro eliminated; in fact, that is what gave him the "brainstorm" when Mr. Dolliver, of Michigan, branded him as a sensational Lilliputian gabber out for notoriety, the loaves and fishes.

While one may not agree with that grand old man, the Rt. Rev. Bishop H. M. Turner as to the emigration of the Negroes in the United States to Africa, one must admit that he strikes a responsive chord when he classes Vardaman and Ben Tillman as human jackasses. Bishop Turner might have found one of the same species prominent in the political affairs of Tennessee.

Few of our exchanges, indeed, find the social events of Nashville so interesting as does the Washington Bee. Miss Beatrice Chase, who fills the position of exchange editor—we suppose—so acceptably, is as interested in the happenings of this city as if she were one of us. The ability to write as well as clip, in this case, has passed from sire to daughter.

John D. Rockefeller, after eluding the United States officers for two weeks, has been served with a subpoena to appear before a Chicago judge. He seems to be following the rule he uses in making charitable gifts in that he put the government to about the same amount of trouble to catch him that he was put in dodging the officers.

The ladies who are sponsors for the Day Home should ask for an appropriation from the county toward the support of this movement. They are entitled to it and, if the proper effort is made, we believe they can get it.

Why was the segregation law so amended as to take in the Negro district between Ninth and Twelfth avenues, North? Does the law intend to protect only white communities?

Some candidate for mayor ought to run on a platform which contains a plank that would pledge him to keep women from saloons.

Why has Teddy been so quiet? He must be hatching a third term egg.

Warm weather and conventions go hand in hand.

A PAINTER'S BRAINSTORM.

Tom stopped in Possum Cut one day, When happening to look, He spied a laundry, billed this way: "No nigger washing took."

Tom went back home, put up this sign: "Fine painting by Tom Bacon; Houses and fences finished fine"— And—"No whitewashing taken." —Hackley.

GETS EXCEPTIONAL DISTINCTION.

John Hope, '94, Recognized by Alma Mater as Leader of His Race.

Seldom in the history of Brown University has an honorary degree been awarded to an alumnus for noteworthy service within the short period of 13 years after his graduation, but such was the case when President Faunce announced yesterday that the degree of Master of Arts had been conferred on John Hope of the class of 1894.

As an educator of the people of his own race in the South Mr. Hope is already making a name for himself that is recognized not only in Georgia, where he is teaching, but also throughout the country, especially among the Baptists, in the interests of which denomination he has been working for 13 years, or ever since he graduated from Brown.

He is now President of the Atlanta Baptist College, Atlanta, Ga., where this year he succeeds in fact as well as in name Rev. George Sale, now the Superintendent of the home mission schools of the Baptist denomination. Last year Mr. Hope was Acting President of the college and has been connected with its faculty for nine years.

On leaving Brown he was appointed Professor of the Department of Natural Sciences at Roger Williams University, Nashville, Tenn., where he served four years. Going to Atlanta Baptist College in the department of Greek and Latin Literature, he gradually rose in his profession and was made Principal of the literary department of the college, a position which he held until made the institution's President.

The college had 213 students during the year which has just closed, the most in 12 years, and it has the distinction of being the only college in Georgia for colored young men. It has a college course and a theological course.

The field from which the college draws is one of the largest in the South. There are nearly 300,000 colored Baptists in Georgia in a negro population of more than 1,000,000, or nearly half the population of the entire State. The college was founded in 1867. Mr. Hope, besides discharging the duties which devolve upon him as President, teaches psychology and ethics.

On returning to Brown for Commencement in 1904, when his class celebrated its decennial, Mr. Hope at the class dinner made a masterful plea for recognition of the needs of the colored race, presenting the subject in a new light for most of his classmates and awakening their profound interest. The gift of an honorary degree from his Alma Mater so comparatively soon after his graduation indicates that he is recognized by that institution as one of the foremost younger educators of his race.—Providence Journal.

DOGS HAVE AN EAR FOR MUSIC.

The capacity of dogs to distinguish musical tones has been made the subject of elaborate experiments by Dr. Otto Kallischer of Berlin in the Proceedings of the Berlin Academy of Sciences. Dr. Kallischer trained his dogs to pick up and eat morsels of meat set before them only when a certain note was sounded. This he called the "feed tone." All the other notes in the scale, which he called "prohibition tones," were signals that the food in front of them was not to be touched.

He began his course of training with a set of pipes of nine notes covering the diatonic scale. When he had taught the dogs all the notes in this he turned to the piano and harmonium and soon found that the animals were able to distinguish semi-tones without error.

The method of procedure was simple. He had a long note sounded and throughout its duration he gave the dog he was training bits of meat. After two or three days, when the dog was thoroughly accustomed to this, he had another tone sounded, one of the "prohibition tones," and during that he held meat before the dog, but prevented him from taking it, making gestures to show that it was forbidden.

The lessons were given daily, each lasting about five minutes. He found that many dogs caught on in five or six lessons, making no attempt to touch the meat during the continuance of the prohibition tone, but snapping it up eagerly when the "feed tone" was sounded. The other notes were quickly added as "prohibition tones," and oddly enough when he decided to change the "feed tone," a majority of dogs detected the change and accommodated themselves to it with ease.

It was proved by the experiments that all dogs have a very acute perception of music tone. They could not only distinguish the "feed tone" from the half tone above and below it, but they caught it when sounded in a chord with other notes. Finally, after long training, they showed ability to pick it out amid a jangle of discordant notes in which even the ear of a trained musician failed to detect whether it was sounding or not.—New York Sun.

RETURNED FROM TEXAS.

N. M. Stewart, formerly manager of The Abraham Lincoln Land Co., 71 The Arcade, has returned from Texas, and is now in the employ of the Realty Savings Bank and Trust Company, corner Fourth avenue and Union street, and will have charge of their North Nashville property.

From his association with the Lincoln Land Company, and his large sales made to the colored people of this vicinity he needs no introduction to most of our readers.

Mr. Stewart informs us that we may look for one of the largest sales he has ever conducted in the near future. We will say that of the great number of lots Mr. Stewart has sold in Nashville, it has never come to our knowledge that one was ever misrepresented or that any purchaser ever met with any but courteous treatment, and all his agreements have always been fulfilled.*

SMALL ROW.

Two men from the Sheriff's office were headed for the jail with a prisoner, and when near City Hall they found their way blocked by the usual Saturday night crowd. One colored man who did not move quickly enough to suit the officers was roughly shoved to one side. Right then and there the trouble began. Fists and clubs were freely used, when one of the deputies fired a shot in the air "to frighten the crowd." Two colored men whom the officers suppose were in the melee were carried to jail.

FRANKLIN NOTES.

Mrs. Willie Neely, served a tempting and enjoyable dinner Monday, July 8, at her residence, complimentary to Miss Mattie Neely's guest, Miss Stella Glin, of Fourteenth avenue, Nashville. The dining room was beautifully decorated with cut flowers and ferns. Among the guests were Misses Estella Glin, Mattie Neely and Mittie Halfacre. They expressed themselves as having spent a pleasant afternoon. After dinner was served, the three ladies with Mrs. Willie Neely enjoyed a pleasant drive over the city. Miss Glin left for her home this evening.
